

The Three Billy Goats Gruff

An Early Years and Primary curriculum-based activity sheet for the whole family

Read

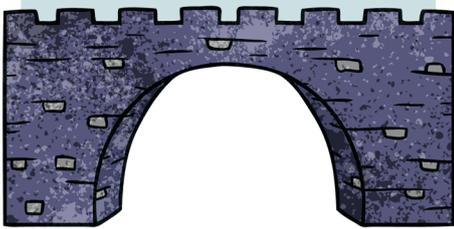

Read the story together and talk about it. You can find it here: tinyurl.com/pen-billygoats. Talk about what's happening.

Can you tell the same story in different words?

Can you act out the story together?

Build a Bridge

Construct a bridge from things you find around the house that can support the weight of a can of beans.

Did you know...

Goats are mountain animals so they are really good at climbing. They have even been known to climb to the tops of trees!

What else can you discover? Write and illustrate a fact sheet about goats.

Tell us a joke...

Q: Why is it hard to carry on a conversation with a goat?

A: They are always butting in!

Do you know any more jokes? Can you make up your own? You could write your own joke book.

How are you helping?

- Repetition helps to develop language.
- Traditional tales help us to deal with difficult emotions, and help us to understand our own culture and other cultures
- Learning to tell stories helps to build confidence

Small, Medium and Large

In the story, the billy goats are different sizes: there is a little billy goat, a middle-sized billy goat and a big billy goat. Collect objects that are all different sizes and sort them out into smaller, medium sized and larger ones.

Telling Stories

A lot of traditional tales weren't written down for a long time after they were first told. People remembered them by telling them over and over again. Can you learn a story, poem or song off by heart?
